Beth Heywood is a local author who has had this novel published in the USA. It tells the story of a widow, Adelaide Rawtenstall, who along with her infant son flee for their lives from her father-in-law. She enlists as a mail order bride and heads for Damnation Island which is a remote and lonely outpost in the inhospitable South Atlantic Ocean. Torn between two lovers Adelaide must make a devastating choice.

Alison Holst published her first Potato book 12 years ago and sold over 100,000 copies. This new book, with many additions to the earlier title, is bigger, brighter and better. Never underestimate the power of the humble potato. Look inside for: Traditional and trendy potato treats. Chunky chowders and smooth creamy soups. Comfort foods like fluffy mashed potatoes or scalloped potatoes and much more.

Based on the high-rating TV3 show Money Man, Winning the Money War is written by the show's financial expert, certified financial planner Lisa Dudson. Its financial tips and easy-to-understand information will help you navigate your way through the financial minefield, helping you develop good financial habits. Once you've read Lisa's financial battle plans, you will be able to kick your finances into the best shape they have ever been.
