

Young models for the night - Imogen Wright, Ellie Norman (back), Alexandra Cooper, Colette Walters and Charlotte Cooper

Bubbles anyone? Linda Newall, Maureen Davidge and Sarah McFarlane

Debbie McKenzie, Christine Street and Penny Fisher
Karen Alexander-Bright and Carlee Jones

Betty Ferguson, Jenny Davis, Heather Morgan and Tina Morgan

Three generations at the event were Kylee Davis (daughter), Lorraine Gallagher (grandma) and Jill Smith (mum)

Models Anna Williams and Charmayne Eden

Fashion event sparkles for valley school

What could be better than a fashion and fun night out for a mid-winter cheer up – raising funds for Valley School at the same time? Long term supporter of Valley School, Linda Newall, came up with a fabulous idea when she organized the fundraising fashion evening with the support of local businesses. Teachers and students from Valley School modeled the latest from top local fashion houses for appreciative guests in the warm and welcoming atmosphere of the Landmark Homes showhome in Twomey Drive, in the Valley School zone. Lynda is an independent consultant for Landmark Homes and she got right behind the school's quest to raise money to make a CD as a music project. Guests were greeted at the door with a glass of bubbly and enjoyed the entertainment and a social get-together. There were door prizes, raffles and specials from the exhibitors. The basket of chocolates donated by The Chocolate Shoppe proved an irresistible raffle and altogether Valley School benefited by $880 from the event – more than enough to achieve their goal of making a CD. "It was a great girls' night out and a lovely opportunity for local businesses to showcase their products and help the school. Everyone had a great time," Linda said.

Tracy Flanagan and Kirsten Moxen

Ready for the catwalk – Kim Sutton, Angela Smith and Anne Aitken

